Latecoere will be present at the National Business Aviation Association (NBAA) Convention in Orlando from October 18 to 20.

Latecoere, a "tier 1" international partner group of the world's largest aircraft manufacturers, will be present at the "2022 NBAA Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition" in Orlando in the United States from October 18 to 20, which brings together 1,000 aviation companies from business.

On stand n°3669, Latecoere will offer a range of intelligent equipment intended for business aviation: Smart LiFi Monitor, 4K monitors, IFE camera systems... Latecoere experts will also present breakthrough technologies for the cabin such as LiFi and on-board fiber optics, which could help lighten the aircraft and thus reduce fuel consumption.

Through its expertise in interconnection systems and aerostructures, Latecoere provides solutions for many business aviation platforms, in particular for Airbus, Boeing, Bombardier and Dassault Aviation.
